Atos Origin and the three major French mobile operators have announced the formation of a joint venture called "Buyster" which is tasked with developing, marketing, and operating a new mobile payment system in France.

Buyster is an innovative, simple, fast and secure remote payment solution for fixed and mobile Internet purchases, which will be available in France from mid-2011. Against a backdrop of sustained growth in eCommerce and an increase in purchases being made from new types of screen, including smartphones and touchscreen devices, the three French mobile operators (Bouygues Telecom, Orange and SFR) and Atos Origin, through Atos Worldline, a European leader in electronic transactions and secure payments, are bringing together their expertise in telecoms and payment to launch this new solution.

The new solution is being backed by major online French retailers, including Aquarelle, Brandalley, Darty and Rue du Commerce.
